

A Blueworld Adventures/Blueworld & Beyond Mini-Comic Strip by Derek Cumberbatch

“Quat the Quat”

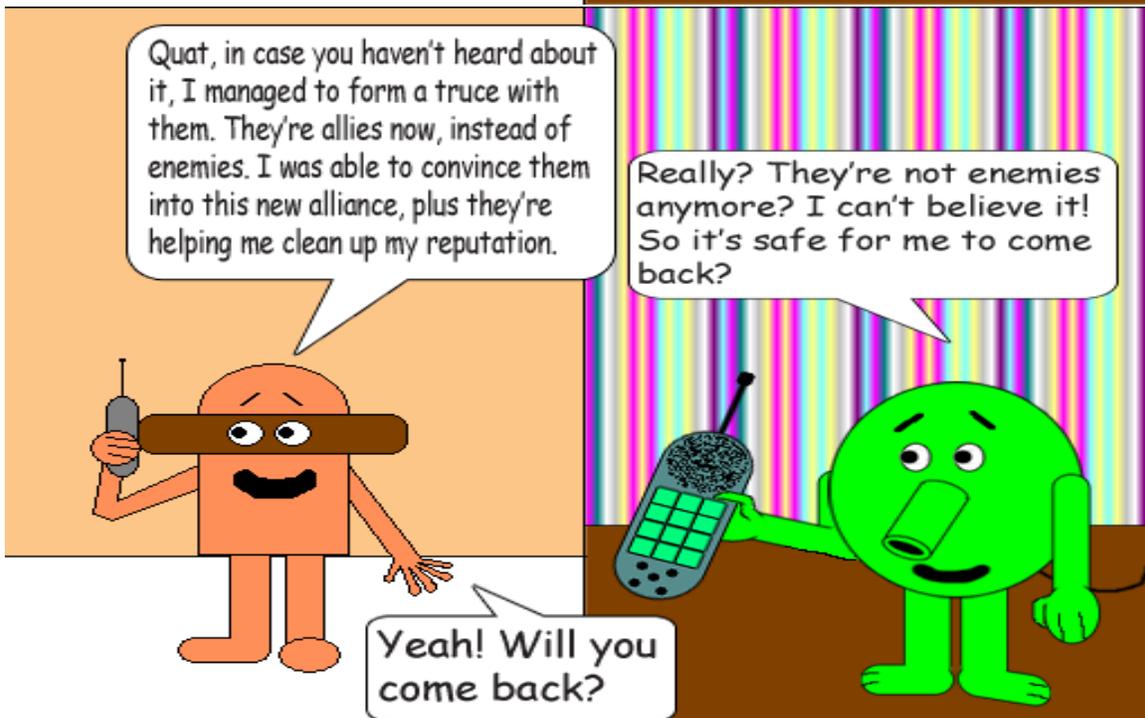

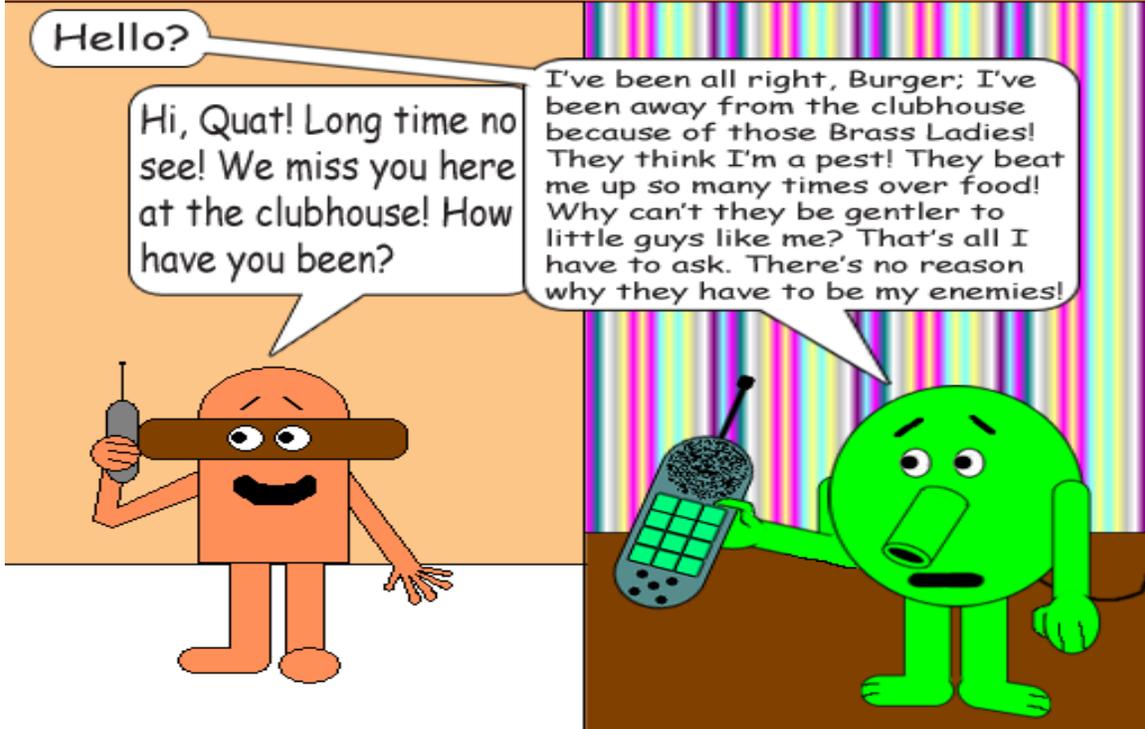

A quat is a green-furred rodent that lives on Photonis, the main world of this cartoon series. It's shaped like the letter Q due to its snort on its face. One member of this unique species is a member of the Hamburger Heavy Metallars. (And don't you find that he resembles Q-Bert?) Being in the quinary cast, he very seldom appears, and he left the Weird Gang since the Brass Ladies beat him up really bad!

Fortunately, Quat is pretty strong for a character of his size. He survived the Brass Ladies' attacks. However, for his own health, he hasn't returned to the clubhouse in a long time. He can use his snort to suck things closer to him if they're light enough, but that ability wasn't very helpful against his oversized, female opponents.

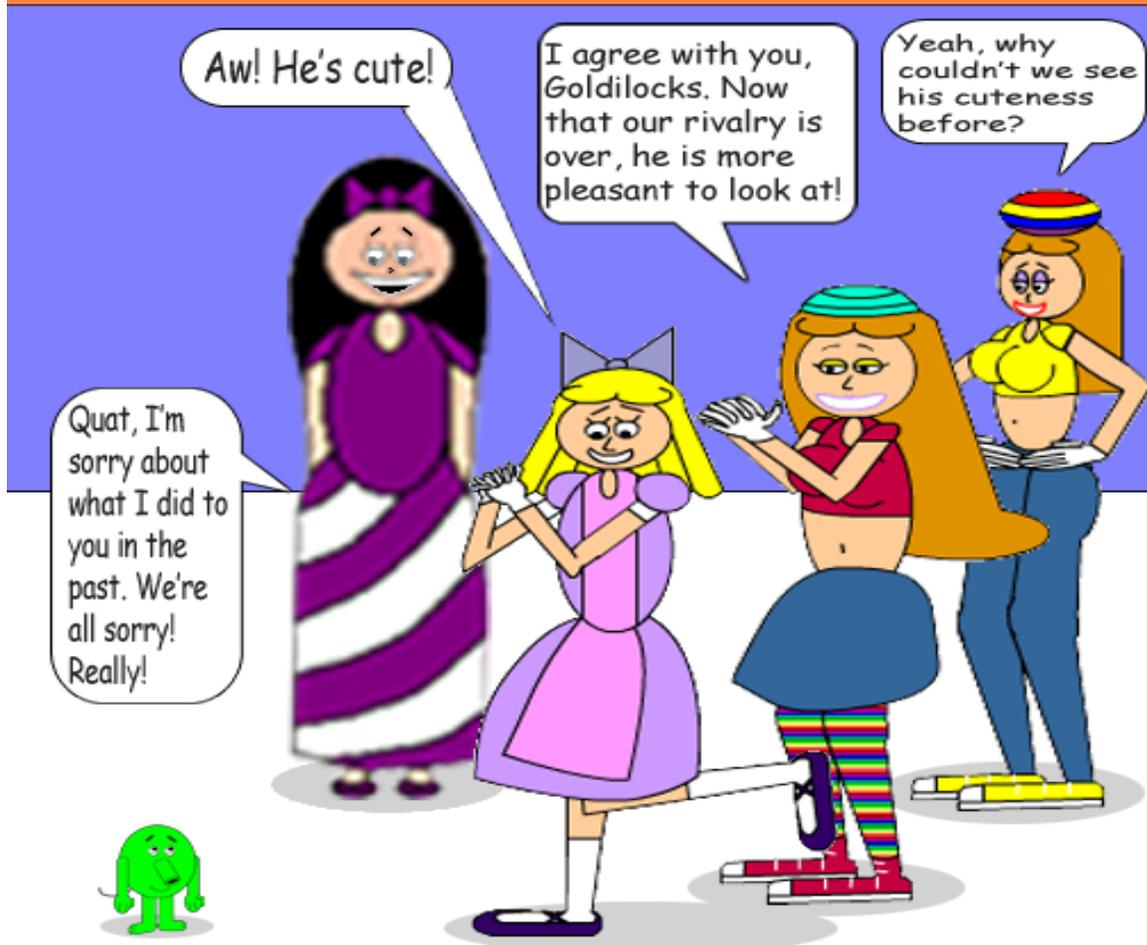

If you have seen the Season 5 finale, you know that Burger has formed a truce with the Brass Ladies, but will that convince Quat to return to the clubhouse?

So, when he returned to the clubhouse, the Brass Ladies gave him a warm welcome instead of a cold one. They seemed to have changed their attitude about quats!

People may look beautiful, but if they're your friends, then they're even more beautiful! The End!